ADMONITION OF WASHINGTON. [Farewell Address, September 17, 1796.]

"In contemplating the causes which may disturb our Union; it occurs, as a matter of serious concern, that any ground should have been furnished for characterizing parties by geographical discriminations-Northern and Southern, Atlantic and Western-whence designing men may endeavor to excite a belief that there is a real difference of local interests and views. One of the expedients of party to acquire influence within particular districts, is to misrepresent the opinions and aims of other districts. You cannot shield yourselves too much against the jealousies and heart-burnings which spring from these misrepresentations; they tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fraternal affection

ADMONITION OF JACKSON.

[Farewell Address, March 3, 1827.] "But the Constitution cannot be maintained, nor the Union preserved, in opposition to public feeling, by the mere exertion of the coercive powers confided to the General Government. The foundations must be laid in the affections of the people; in the security which it gives to life, liberty and property in every quarter of the country; and in the fraternal attachments which the citizens of the several States bear one to auother as members of one political family, mu tually contributing to promote the happiness of each other. Hence, the citizens of each State should studiously avoid everything calculated to wound the sensibility or offend the just pride of the people of other States; and they should frown upon any proceedings within their FOR SALE AT THE SENTINEL OFFICE

That liberty of speech and of the press are guaranteed to the people by the Constitution, and from one another in important particulars; and none but a usurper would deprive them of these this difference is unavoidably increased by the rights; they are inestimable to the citizen and formidable to tyrants only. And the attempts which have been made since our present unfortunate troubles, to muzzle the press and stiffe free the Revolution, and therefore, of necessity, indiscussion, are exercises of despotic power against which treedom revolts and which can not be tolerated without converting freemen into slaves.

14. That the seizure of Stidell and Mason, on board a neutral vessel, on the high seas, was either in accordance with international law, and of other States, or the rights of the Union, every so legal; or else in violation of such law, and so State must be the sole judge of the measures illegal.
